'My proudest moment in nursing in the last year'

'It has been overwhelming but also humbling that I have not only been at the forefront of caring for those affected by Coronavirus, but I have also worked with amazing and dedicated volunteers through my charity-Diabetes Action CIC. The contributions of the volunteers have been extraordinary in transforming lives and empowering so many people in our community. I have been inspired by the resilience of our volunteers who have continued to serve others whilst putting their own lives at risk during this unprecedented global pandemic. I am extremely proud of the achievements of the Diabetes Action CIC, which has been a beacon of hope for our service users through our Digital Lifestyle Modification Program and the provision of more than 3000 food parcels and 3000 hot meals in support of those struggling due to financial hardship through our food bank. I am extremely proud of the recognition received from the Lord Lieutenant Ken Olisa, representative of HM The Queen. I am also grateful to The QNI and Burdett Trust for the grant to participate in the innovation project. Your support and in-kind contributions have made it possible for us to serve our service users and this has contributed immensely to achieving incredible better health outcomes.'
